

A low-angle, upward-looking shot of a modern building's exterior. The building features a dark grey or black facade with large, multi-paned windows framed in a light-colored wood. A prominent section of the facade is covered in horizontal wood slats, matching the window frames. To the left, a tall palm tree and a slender, columnar evergreen are visible against a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds. The overall aesthetic is clean, contemporary, and emphasizes natural materials like wood.
